Editorial Profile

The German-Arab Association (Deutsch-Arabishe Gesellschaft - DAG), founded in 1966, is the largest most prominent and the oldest non-governmental organisation in Germany to promote and improve German-Arab relations.

Numerous individuals and corporations involved with the Arab world are organized in the DAG. The organisation holds a strong network for German and Arab companies. It helps both sides to improve business relations and contributes significantly to commercial success.

Eurabia - the publication of the German-Arab Association addresses DAG members as well as the interested public. It covers important events, culture, delegates' journeys and developments in the Arab world and in Germany.

Eurabia strongly advocates Arab issues in Germany. Therefore the publication is not only well-known among the DAG-members but it reaches a much broader audience closely attached to the Arab world mainly leading executives in the economy, in politics and the media.
